
Subject: Bangladesh shuts down mobile internet to tackle teen protests

Posted by Michael32 on Sun, 05 Aug 2018 15:42:18 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

<http://news.abs-cbn.com/overseas/08/05/18/bangladesh-shuts-down-mobile-internet-to-tackle-teen-protests>

UPDATES AS TO WHAT IS GOING ON BELOW (SOME ARE NOT SAFE FOR WATCH)

https://old.reddit.com/r/worldnews/comments/94qcl0/bangladesh_shuts_down_mobile_internet_to_tackle/e3n4sqj/

https://old.reddit.com/r/worldnews/comments/94qcl0/bangladesh_shuts_down_mobile_internet_to_tackle/e3n7mqj/

(Safe For Watch)<https://imgur.com/a/pBWTuue> - Bangladesh Chhatra league goons wielding a 'da' (machete) in full view of police as they chase unarmed protesting students.

This is so wrong :(

Subject: Re: Bangladesh shuts down mobile internet to tackle teen protests

Posted by Wolf on Mon, 06 Aug 2018 03:08:40 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Typical third world life. Very sad but it is how it is. At least the young people are trying to improve things, but others don't care.

I think the main problem with the poverty and problems of third world nations is that those that are smarter or more well off tend to flee to America or other first world countries, thus creating a "brain drain" of the third world countries. Another factor is the billions of dollars of aid that the US gives. In the short term that helps but in the long term it has been damaging to everyone involved. The people become very dependent and thus unable to survive on their own. Instead of billions of "give a fish" dollars, there should be "teach to fish" programs that push the third worlds to improve themselves and survive. Then everyone is happy.
