It's just an idea and a rough draft. It's not very good but it gets the message across. Certain things work on others so good to mix it up.

Thank you. Do you have any advice on improving this? Or someone else who can perfect it? Or is it good as is? I mean it gets the message across. Should I wait or get couple hundred of these printed into business cards?

Give it a background, add slight effects to text, like outlining.

What background do you recommend? I was thinking of a dark background just plain? Kind of hard to have background behind a card that's just pictures all over the place with some text. Off topic Wonder if they are watching us. Well I know they are.. It's funny cause the one that says "Vatican Hitler" has 574 views.

Yeah, plain dark background, can make text glow out.

Yes, we are being watched. Nothing we can do about it.
